

Researching Local History

Links to Local History

Explore local history and genealogy online. Many resources are now available that enable you to research historic properties, events, and family history from home. Guides for researching local history are available that explain

- How to plot old deeds
- How to research a chain of title

Find links to historic maps, African American records, court records, vital records, military databases, newspapers, school board minutes, travel journals, and more can be found at:

<http://www.novahistory.org/Research/Research.html>